

PBM DISCLOSURE · AUDIT WORKSHEET

Five Disclosures Your PBM Owes You Annually. Most Plan Sponsors Receive One.

Three audit passes. One disclosure clause. One inquiry record.

This handout decodes the five PBM disclosure obligations: rebate-flow attestation, conflict-of-interest disclosure, data-partnership disclosure, audit-results delivery, and material-change notice. The disclosure clauses are in nearly every contract. The disclosures themselves rarely arrive without a written request. The PBM that operates with disclosure transparency proactively sends them; the PBM that treats disclosures as optional waits to be asked.

01 Build the disclosure obligation list from the contract

Open your contract. Find the disclosure clause (sometimes scattered across reporting, audit, and conflicts sections). For each obligation, document: what the PBM must disclose, to whom, on what cadence (annual, quarterly, on-event), in what format.

02 Catalog what was actually delivered in the past 12 months

Pull all formal communications from the PBM over the past year: quarterly reports, annual attestations, ad-hoc notifications, audit responses, conflict-of-interest disclosures. Catalog by date and content category.

Compare to the obligation list. Which obligations were fulfilled? Which were missed?

03 Send written requests for missed items

For each missed disclosure, draft a written request citing the contract clause that requires it. Send through your broker. Document the PBM's response in writing.

The PBM's response itself is informative.

04 The Pattern PBS Sees Most Often

Across hundreds of PBM contract reviews and audits annually at PBS: most contracts have at least four required disclosures, but plan sponsors typically receive only one (the standard quarterly report). The other three are obligations the PBM has but rarely fulfills proactively.
